Greg Stancil Appointed to NAHU's Legislative Council

Greg Stancil, Director of Healthcare Reform for Scott Benefit Services, was recently appointed to the Legislative Council of the National Association of Health Underwriters (NAHU).

The NAHU Legislative Council works to advance and advocate for healthcare policy and regulatory solutions on a national level. Members of the Council provide insights to top-level decision makers in the White House and on Capitol Hill. Stancil's appointment advances Scott Benefit Services' work on behalf of our clients as well as provides access to timely insights into the future of healthcare in our country.

Stancil is regarded as an expert on the employer impacts of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) and regularly speaks at industry events and healthcare reform workshops across the country. Additionally, he is a regular contributor on the Scott Performance Thinking blog where he monitors healthcare reform activity and shares important updates and insights for employers. Stancil is a Registered Health Underwriter (RHU), Chartered Healthcare Consultant (ChHC) and received a Certificate of Studies in Healthcare Reform. He also represents Scott Benefit Services on the NAHU Principals Council.
